Martinsville Speedway Notes of Interest:

- Cole Custer will make his 38th career NASCAR Cup Series start at Martinsville (Va.) Speedway during Sunday's Xfinity 500. Custer was knocked out of the championship hunt after the Round of 16 but still has two more opportunities to earn his second Cup Series win in his rookie season.
- The Ford driver makes his second Cup Series start at the Virginia track. In June, Custer started 27th but fought a tight-handling Mustang throughout the event and ultimately finished 29th.
- Custer has six NASCAR Gander RV & Outdoors Truck Series starts at Martinsville. The California native earned one pole award in October 2015 and, with the exception of his April 2016 start, he's earned a top-10 starting position each time at the .526-mile track. In total, he has an average starting position there of 5.2 and an average finish of 16.2.
- The Ford driver joins Charlotte's sports radio WFNZ 102.5 FM with Wilson and Parcell every Tuesday night at 5:26 p.m. EDT to recap what is going on in the Cup Series and the occasional opinion on the NFL's Carolina Panthers.
- The rookie driver earned his first Cup Series win in just his 20th start July 12 at Kentucky Speedway in Sparta.
- Custer's Kentucky Cup Series win put him in an elite category with only nine other drivers who have won in NASCAR's top three national series, as well as in ARCA and one of NASCAR's developmental series.
- The rookie's Cup Series win put him in a category with 33 other drivers who have won in each of NASCAR's top three national series.
- 2020 mark's Custer's first full-time season in the Cup Series, and he clinched Rookie of the Year honors by being the only driver in his class to win a race and clinch a playoff spot.
